

September Board Meeting AD Report

The chorus has completed two formal rehearsals (August 28th and September 11th) which have largely explored the holiday repertoire. The repertoire thus far seems readily accessible for the most part, while two selections (Jingle Bell Hallelujah and Cold and Fugue Season) may be more challenging than anticipated, but I believe they will be secured in due time. In terms of recruitment, we've achieved our goal from the prior AD report of "adding a handful of new singers". There is one more potential audition which has been scheduled for September 18th. In the coming weeks I'd like to get the ball rolling on discussions with the chorus about activism and repertoire for our Spring concert series.

Finally, we've secured an excellent collaborative pianist, Genevieve Karki, who first joined us at our September 11th rehearsal. I'm excited for her expertise and assistance on the piano for this holiday season.
